

Promises, threats, scare tactics...

...Don't let Management cheat us and our families out of a secure future

The company is trying to cheat us out of the security of a union contract. They would have us believe that we could lose everything by gaining the security of a union contract. Think about that for a minute:

If they truly believed that we would get less in wages and benefits under a Teamsters contract, wouldn't they want the Teamsters to represent us?

Management is fighting against the Teamsters because they know: Teamsters contracts have better wages, benefits, pensions and job security when compared with what we have right now.

And Teamsters contracts are legally binding. Management won't just be able to change things whenever it wants.

For secure jobs and our families' futures
